

Hi

As a Norfolk Islander who has lived on the island all my life I can praise the work of the National Parks management and work done on the island.

I completely agree that all areas that the new management plan are essential for the sustainability of our natural environment.

I also agree that a marine park is important not only for sustainable fishing but for the preservation and protection of the marine life.

I was appalled by the motion put forward by a local Council member trying to hold on too certain areas so they may in the future sell the land for monetary gains or a harbour.

I also wish that national parks would take over more areas such as the Ball Bay Reserve.

So much of this island is over run by noxious weeds and cattle that our fragile ecosystem needs a lot of work and protection.

Yours sincerely

Diana Adams

Sent from Samsung tablet.