

Dear Madam, dear Sir,

I urge you not to cut even more in the Marine National Parks. The ocean is one of our most important ecosystems with a very rich biodiversity that you simply intend to destroy for mining and overfishing. If you continue your destructive plans, it will have far-reaching consequences for the increase of the CO2 emissions, which will accelerate climate change and reduce considerably the oxygen on our planet. Besides, in doing so, you're breaking totally the Climate Agreement of Paris..

Please, no more cutting. If you care for humanity and a healthy planet.
Sincerely,

Leotien Parlevliet
