

With plastic pollution, over fishing by rapacious factory ships, longlining and blatant disregard for national boundaries by some countries, the world's oceans are in more danger than ever before. We need more protected areas, not less. Please don't cut back on the protections we already have.

sincerely, Mark Duncan