

I am very disappointed to hear about the government's plans to roll back the important marine protection zones. It was tremendous when these were established and it would be such a backwards step to reduce them. These precious marine ecosystems need to be preserved.

Yours sincerely

Clare Brown