

To whom it may concern,

Please do not reduce the areas of our Marine Sanctuaries. These sanctuaries were put in place following an enormous amount of research into what size would be appropriate and provide adequate protection for threatened species. Reducing the size of protected areas poses a large threat to species biodiversity and in turn ecosystem health. I implore you to keep our sanctuaries safe for ourselves and future generations.

Regards,

- Emily Gosden