

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to plead with you to not cut back our vital marine sanctuaries! Marine life has been more at risk than ever before with climate change and anthropocentric pressures placing stress on ecosystems and populations.

Stripping these vital protections could be a death sentence for many important species. Please set aside this pointless cut back and leave our sanctuaries alone! It will be damaging to our marine environment!

I cannot support a government with such a callous regard towards the natural environment and conservation.

Regards,

Monika.
