

Please do not reduce the area, or reduce the number, of protected marine reserves in Australia.

Australia ought to be showing leadership in protecting our unique marine ecosystems by expanding both the number of marine reserves and increasing the area under protection.

The proposed reduction in marine reserves is unacceptable.

These marine reserves are part of our natural heritage and need to be managed to preserve their existing ecological stats.

Yours Sincerely,
Brett Kerrison