

Dear Minister,

It is sheer madness to even begin considering changing the boundaries of the marine parks and sanctuaries.

The oceans need protection from greedy companies who are prepared to destroy the ocean sea beds and who use longline fishing methods.

Shame on your government for this backward step. How will future generations survive this onslaught of the oceans?

Voters will not respond in your favour at the next election due to your government winding back of these vital, protected areas.

Yours sincerely,
