

Our environment is, more than ever before, in need of protection. It seems incredulous that the Australian government is contemplating the reduction of marine reserves at all, and especially the scale of reductions that is being considered.

Please do what you can to ensure that Australia leads the world's efforts to protect the irreplaceable.

Future generations will be grateful if we do the right thing.

Yours sincerely
Dr Tony Higgs

Sent from my iPad