

This idea is insane. We are supposed to be advancing, but we just seem to be getting more desperate as we compete with the rest of the world. If we can't even manage not to eat our protected sites then we'll be forced into a dire situation as the planet will have no more to offer.

Please leave the parks as they are.

Michael Robinson

Capalaba