

I am appalled at the Liberal government's cavalier attitude to the very seas & oceans that surround this nation. The natural resources that are harvested from our seas are not finite & rely heavily on protected marine parks to sustain the chain of life that is essential for a healthy ecosystem. Without that consideration all of humanity is on borrowed time.

How could such short term thinking be permitted to influence government policy is beyond my understanding, we are a prosperous nation & can well afford to set aside marine no go zones, anything else is lunacy. I can't even start to comprehend how the government can even consider such measures to reduce the size of protected marine parks.

John Hughes, Cygnet. Tas.