

Mr Frydenberg,

The proposal by the Liberal party (i.e. not the Australian people) to severely cut back Australia's marine protected areas is an evil and greedy move by a few power-hungry men to capture private gains from public resources. There is simply no justification for it. There are no extra jobs. The world's fish stocks are at record lows, while there is still substantial opportunity for fishing industry efficiency gains. The Great Barrier Reef and world's oceans have never been more subject to degradation from pollution, siltation, acidification and rising temperatures. Meanwhile the Liberal party continues to push for subsidizing outdated coal-fired power stations and open new coal fields (to foreign investors!!).

If you approve this move, you are destroying our nation's future, our children's future. Please don't be a dinosaur. Drop this insane policy action on our marine reserves.

Christopher Landon-Lane
Consultant Economist
Asian Development Bank