

Dear Minister Frydenberg

Economic growth is a terminal cancer spreading across our beautiful planet. Human beings are the cause. But they can prevent further damage if they realise quickly that their greed is toxic. We do not have the right to kill this planet and everything on it. We do not own it. We are just one of the many species that exist upon it. Our arrogant self importance and fictitious gods have given us the belief that we are the most important thing on this earth. And yet, go stand in the garden and compare yourself to one of the beautiful trees. Take a moment to think of all that tree does for the planet. Take a long moment. Then, think of all you do for the planet. You will find the comparison laughable. All humans do is take. And then use their imaginary gods to justify themselves. Just imagine a world where humans spent as much time dedicated to Mother Nature. Out in the gardens instead of in churches. Where we worshipped our planet instead of ourselves.

Please, be one of the people who goes down in history as respecting our world. Not as one of the greedy idiots who will destroy it. There are already enough of them. I call them Miracle Terrorists.

I wish you all the best of luck in this battle of good versus evil.

Be a hero worth honoring in human history.

Fiona Dundas