

Dear Josh,

I'm worried about the legislation that is about to be enacted regarding marine parks. I am told that it will reduce the size of our marine parks. I am not across the detail at the moment but I think you might be interested to consider my situation in writing to you.

I am 64 and a keen fisherman. I'm not a 'greenie' but I have seen what unregulated fishing can do to fish stocks. To begin with I didn't see the value in marine parks but over time I realize how important they are.

I am hoping you will reconsider this legislation. There are many fishermen like myself who are watching what's happening here and it will come to mind very quickly when they think about who to vote for in the coming election.

Regards
David Mitchell
