

The massive cutback in protection of marine areas seems to have ignored science, and even the governments own reports. Opening up 97% of the waters around the coast for extractive practices can only be explained by ideology. Please, think again.

Eve Steinke

Sent from Samsung tablet.