

I wholeheartedly reject the Government's plan to cut marine protection.

Australia is known for its amazing marine life and it is both upsetting and infuriating that the government is even considering such enormous cuts.

We need to preserve our beautiful natural environment instead of continually damaging and destroying it.

I will be incredibly disappointed if these plans go through because I feel it completely undermines core Australian values and our commitment as a community to our oceans and marine life.

Sincerely

Alice Pennycott