

To Whom It may Concern,

I am very disturbed to hear of Government plans to reduce Marine Park protections rather than increase them!

We have some of the last pristine waters and habitats left on this planet. Fish species and ecosystems world wide are depleting. Government response to this environmental crisis should be enhanced protection.

Oil and Gas exploration is a risky business devastating water quality on land and off. We are in an an ocean of sunlight in Australia and should never exchange our marine environment for fossil fuels.

Enough of the stupidity.

Sincerely,

Anna Harpley.
