

Please put a bit of conservation in the conservative side of politics. Our oceans are precious, reducing protected area serves nobody in the long run. Depleted stocks of commercial species have some chance of regeneration in protected waters.