

To anyone who is listening and cares about more than self-gratification, dear fellow inhabitants of Earth,

There is no going back to the world as we found it even fifty years ago....but surely we can cease our criminal activities of plunder and assault and polluting enough to protect what is left. None of the earth's riches belong to us... and it isn't 'just left-wing' to remind ourselves that we are all just visitors passing through.

May the Blessed Intelligence that created us and this Earth forgive us....even though we do know what we do.....and reach our hearts so that we awake from this nightmare of destruction and avarice into love.

With respect,
Linda Hall
