

To whom it may concern.

Sir/Madam,

Please do not slip back to the bad old days when no one cared a damn about the oceans of the life that live within it.

We do not need to record of being the leader of going backward, by undoing the good which is at this time in place. It would be nice if Australia could lead in the right direction for a change. We seems to be on a slippery slide as far as keeping what is right for now and the future generations.

I feel sure you would like to leave a legacy of things that your Grand and Great grand children can enjoy and be in wonder at Mother Nature magic, not the void with nothing of beauty left. Please think long and hard about what your Government is about to do and stand up for the future generations.

Your sincerely Paula Collett
