

OUR national parks need to be preserved if not extended.

all these areas have the ability to maintain all remaining wildlife and flora and generate income forever through tourism at the least.

selective management by scientists can increase that

The removal of areas from these reserves is for short term gain at the expense of the future

WE rely on govts to make decisions that consider the long term as well as the short term.

I feel any removal of areas from reserve protection is govt not taking due consideration of the effect of this action

Brian S