

I am an everyday Australian. I love watching football, spending time with friends and family, and I love being out and about in our beautiful natural environment.

The most important thing in life that I care about is protecting the environment so we all have a healthy world to live in. Australia's oceans are some of the most diverse and amazing places on the planet. They are NOT for sale! Marine sanctuaries keep our oceans healthy. To close areas of conservation would be devastating and unforgivable! Keep our sanctuaries safe and our oceans healthy.
