

It greatly alarms me to hear the current Australian government intends to cut back the conservation measures that were put place to denote & conserve marine sanctuaries in the oceans around our land. To be going backwards with all that we know about life & ecosystems & how much we depend on this small area that allows life to grow on this planet. There is just empty space above us & hard rock below us...so fragile is our existence.

Please reconsider & choose to conserve life.