

Dear Sirs

I am absolutely horrified at the back flip of the Turnbull government in relation to protecting our oceans.

I draw your attention to Tim Winton's article in relation to this in yesterday's SMH. I could not put the case for future generations more eloquently.

To backtrack on these protections, to countenance the Carmichael mine and worse financially support it, to not embrace the clean energy target set out by an independent arbitrator is morally reprehensible.

I expected better from a Turnbull led government and am bitterly disappointed. I will not be supporting a liberal party state or federal that trashes 'country' at future elections.

Catherine Carmichael

Sent from my iPhone