

Dear sir/madam,

I would like to see a considerable increase in protected areas for our reefs, coastlines in general and our deeper oceans. I am absolutely outraged that the Australian Government is planning to cut back on these protected areas!!! The green zones are crucial breeding grounds and sanctuaries for our native fish, molluscs and mammals. please don't cut back on any of these protective measures. Please instead increase the number and overall area of our protected marine estate. Australia can afford to do this. I don't want to be embarrassed about our country ignoring advice from scientists, ignoring looming climate change and ignoring the fact that we love our oceans and all the natural beauty it contains, please heed this urgent request Jeanette Kemp
