

Dear government, stop dragging politics and your perpetual pandering towards big business and overseas companies into important environmental decisions. Australia is a laughing stock overseas when it comes to how we treat the Barrier Reef, and our protection of marine parks and other natural assets. We used to be a world leader when it came to protecting our ocean's future. Now we are no better than Japan with our total disregard for the marine animals, some of which are unique to our region. Your selfish, self-serving government will never be getting my vote in any upcoming elections, based on your incomprehensible decision on the Adani mine alone but now there is this to add to your abysmal record.

Jobs and growth - what a laugh. More like chaos and destruction. Regards Meralin Fawcus.

Sent from my Huawei Y530 on the Telstra Mobile network