

Sir/Madam,

It is imperative that the government does not diminish the current marine reserves by half.

These reserves were established as a necessity to protect our increasingly fragile marine environments.

As a citizen of this country I am appalled that our official representatives are so willing to diminish the quality of our oceans through cost cutting and inaction to protect this ecosystem.

Our current climate targets are shameful; a plan reducing the marine reserves would add to the list of shame.

Please do not cull the marine reserves.

Yours faithfully,

Audrey Hutchison
