

You will live to regret this action.

You will hang your heads in shame when you have permanently damaged our precious oceans and the life they support.

Marie Ormonde