

To the current Minister for Environment & Water

I am shocked to learn of your governments plan to significantly reduce the area of marine parks within Australia waters. By doing this you will open up these areas to extremely harmful and potentially irreversible damage to marine life and wider ecosystem through commercial fishing and resource exploration, among other things.

For goodness sake, have at least some degree of foresight and vision into the very harmful impacts this could have on such an important part of Australia's environmental landscape. I urge you and your government to withdraw from these plans and give future generations a reason to thank you in the future for protecting these natural resources.

Thanks and advance

Paul Briedis