

The government is making some very foolish decisions and I wish they would wake up and get their priorities right and look after our environment.

Regards

Shirley Richards