

To whom it may concern,

I am disturbed that the government is proposing to reduce the level of protection for our oceans. We know that they are extraordinarily vulnerable, a resource which, once lost, may never be restored. It is foolish to throw that resource away for short-term gain.

Sincerely
Robert Cribb

--

Robert Cribb
Professor of Asian History
Department of Political and Social Change
Coral Bell School of Asia-Pacific Affairs
College of Asia and the Pacific
Australian National University
Canberra ACT 2601, Australia

tel: +61 (2) 61254247
robert.cribb@anu.edu.au