

To the Current Government

Please do not wind back Australia's area or locations of marine sanctuaries. These areas are of critical ecological importance. They act as nurseries and safe havens for commercially important species. Your actions are being driven by blind emotive ideology based on invalid premises. I suggest you read some science and attend to the advice of marine scientists. Your actions currently are contributing to the Sixth Global Mass Extinction. Your record of management of marine ecosystems, in posterity, is going to be very poor.

Yours sincerely

Sue
