

I am asking you to reconsider this outrageous proposal to reduce the marine park in the Coral sea. In this critical period of climate change the decline in protected areas of our planet is not an option. It astounds me that our government even considers this as a viable option. Economic growth at the expense of the environment is short sighted and smacks of stupidity. No healthy planet - no humans.

Sally Darlison.