

Hello,

It would be greatly appreciated if greater emphasis was placed on protecting rather than exploiting Marine parks.

To much damage has already been done hence the idea of having sanctuaries in the first place.

To remove those protections is to essentially rob future generations of everything that we have obviously taken for granted.

Stand for what is right rather than what is profitable.

Hello,

It would be greatly appreciated if greater emphasis was placed on protecting rather than exploiting Marine parks.

To much damage has already been done hence the idea of having sanctuaries in the first place.

To remove those protections is to essentially rob future generations of everything that we have obviously taken for granted.

Stand for what is right rather than what is profitable.