

To whom it may concern,

I am bitterly disappointed that the Government is even contemplating halving the Marine National Parks. Although not a supporter of the Labor Party, I do recognise the significance and importance of their decision to expand the Marine Parks while in Government.

Your decision to revoke 50 percent of the Parks will result in my, and many of my baby boomer friends not supporting the coalition at the next federal election.

Allowing trawling and long lining is a retrograde step, why are you not incentivising sustainable fishing?

Thousands of decent folk all over Australia fight to save our fragile environment only to have indifferent and irresponsible legislators nullify their great work.

Yours sincerely,

Glenda Maloney
