

Your environmental record is so far appalling.

First you love coal enough to subsidise the worst influence on climate change you could find - in the Adani proposal, then you threaten to remove subsidies from renewables, then you refuse to honour the findings of every commission on energy and climate that does not embrace your ideologies.

Now you want to cut protection of the oceans which be bear the brunt of all your sins- poorly controlled effluents, rising temperatures that could be avoided even if you had just a token conscience.

More shame brought upon Australia every day. More importantly, more damage. irreversible damage.

Margaret Campbell