

Instead of reducing the area of ocean protected, it should be being increased!

With an ever growing population it is more important than ever, that we look at ways to protect and preserve our natural environment for future generations to enjoy.