

I was immensely proud when Australia increased her marine protection zones and it is devastating to learn these zones are now going to be opened up and our magnificent and very vulnerable unique sea life is going to be unprotected. We have greedy, selfish, uncaring neighbours and they cannot be allowed to damage our precious, vulnerable fish, shellfish and marine life. For the sake of our grandchildren and the future of the planet , leave the protected zones in place. PS just look at the recent and ongoing decimation of sharks in the Timor Sea to see what absolute destruction can be wrought by our Asian neighbours.

Sent from my iPhone