

I just can't believe that your government is decreasing the size of Australia's Marine Parks, allowing trawling and longline fishing again. Yesterday I observed what trawling does to beaches and marine life in the NT and was very upset. In Corio Bay, Victoria, where we live, trawling has been recently discontinued and the difference to the health of the bay is already obvious. Obviously the monetary gains you will make in the short-term outweigh the safety and health of our oceans and the marine life in them. Shame on you! !!!!!!!

Anne and Graeme Gittens