

I find it quite bewildering to have our government cutting back on protection given to our oceans through the reduction of Marine National Park areas. This is when we have illegal whaling in the southern ocean and overfishing in other parts of the world. We need marine national parks more than ever to protect the environments they have and help preserve the fish stocks etc for the future. I would have a guess that this decision is being driven by the mighty dollar and big business in the name of jobs and growth! A bad long term move. Please stop this and preserve our Marine National Parks.
