

I am writing to ask that the proposed reduction in marine parks not proceed.

We are fortunate to have so much of our maritime area relatively untouched.

I am writing this from Greece and have been disappointed to see that much of the famed Greek seafood is now farmed because the Mediterranean waters are so over exploited.

We are in the unique position of learning from past mistakes in other parts of the world.

For future generations this proposed reduction in protected marine areas should not go ahead.

Helen Stewart