

Now is not the time to cut back marine protection.

We need the ocean area we currently have and we need to protect it not only for us but for future generations.

It is just another cost cutting exercise because of all the moneys wasted elsewhere by mindless politicians making a name for their own sake.

Our marine area should never be decreased. I would rather see it increased and have a responsible organisation care for it.

Regards

Kevin Victor.