

Dear Government,

Water and oceans, both We are searching galaxies far away for hoping they are hosting such critical and beautiful signs of life that we could one day move to and live on. So how does it make sense that on the planet we know already has these water systems (thus know how precious they are and the amazing schools of life that live in them) that we havnt managed to properly protect as the very lucky custodians we are ?

It's beyond time.

Do something.

Thanks
Nadia
