

To The Minister for Environment and Water,

I am very disappointed to learn of our Federal Government's plans to dramatically decrease the area of Australian ocean conservation. We should be increasing the protected area of these precious places and ensuring that the marine life that exists there is not threatened or diminished by commercial fishing practices.

Each day I am more shocked by the decisions made by your government and its lack of vision for the future of our natural environment. My political support will be directed elsewhere in coming elections if I see no change in these policies.

Marion Paul