

"The environment" might mean something different to you but it means "the world in which we live work and play" to me.

Please do what you can to save the environment (the world in which we live work and play) for future generations.

I want my children, grandchildren and great grandchildren to enjoy the oceans of Australia just as I have enjoyed them.

Please think of our first people too. What would they ask of you? The old adage of take only what you need and leave the rest to mature and grow is the only way forward if we want a future!

Stop destroying species. SOS. Save our species. SOS. The oceans are home to so many species right now. Let's keep what we have while we still have it. Over fishing should be avoided at all cost. Over fishing is by definition being too greedy. Take what you need but remember that we need it for the future too. Responsible sustainable fishing is wonderful and the only way forward.

--

Kind regards
Pamela MacDonald