

To whom it may concern,

This is absolutely unbelievable that anyone would be even remotely considering cutting back protection of our marine parks.

Only yesterday Chinese fishing vessels were found with highly endangered sharks caught illegally from Timorese waters.

With the Great barrier reef being granted by nature & its creator to be entrusted to us Australians for its safe keeping.

This must also be seen on a larger scale....

My question to the person either reading this email, or those that will carry this highly important decision throughout their lifetime & be passed down to their family & friends as a legacy also of their lifetime is;

Are the oceans safer for a proposed reduction in marine parks & our tourism sector thrives as a result of the change?

What is the benefit of this proposed reduction of marine parks to the oceans inhabitants or the tourism sector?

Or is this related to a flow of shipping through these areas to transport highly damaging COAL & further risk the spillage of oil & the disruption of the delicate & fragile oceans ecosystems???

We as Australians demand more than this from our leadership.

Remember this will be pointed directly at YOU for your actions.

Now NATURE is in your hands

Thankyou in advance for making the only sensible decision possible & Expanding Marine park protection....NOT reducing.

Kindest regards,
Wayne
