

This is a plea to the government to keep the current marine park protections in place. Cutting the area of ocean Australia protects is a retrograde step which will result in loss of many species. I am absolutely confounded that such areas as the Coral Sea National parks have been halved with Osprey and Marion Reefs halved and Shark and Vena Reefs removed altogether. The oceans are in enough trouble with warng occurring at an alarming rate . Removing these protections will exacerbate the problem immeasurably.
