

To the Government,

Please do not reduce the area of our ocean protected by Marine Reserves.

As the world continues to get over-populated and fish stocks and marine life numbers decline due to unsustainable harvesting, pollution, plastics, trawling, long-lining etc., we need to maintain and be proud of the level of protection that has been established. Protecting biodiversity in the natural world is ultimately the key to our own survival and in a world where more and more species are becoming threatened and endangered of extinction we need to be increasing marine reserves if anything, not reducing them.

Please look after the natural world.

Yours sincerely,

Karen Davis
