

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to you in the hope that all other Australians do likewise, and accordingly we have to be heard.

I care about the planet, and with regards to the oceans, we have a great responsibility. The decisions we make today directly affect the future.

Historically, Australia has been a leader of change. That's the Australia I am proud to be part of.

The proposed legislation to roll back the progress we've made is not only senseless, but harmful. That is not the Australia we should be showing to the world. I am ashamed to be part of that.

We have been gifted a beautiful natural wonder. It is ours, and it's our responsibility to protect it. There is no one else.

Yours sincerely,
Justine Black.
