

I can't believe that an Australian Government could be ever so neglectful and dismissive of our Great Oceans and the Species that live in its waters as to reduce it's protection by a huge 50% if anything it should be increasing the protection from the likes of long line fishers and Japanese Whalers. Australia is a great place to live surrounded by Oceans and such a diversity of sea creatures and living in Port Macquarie makes you appreciate its wonders.

A very disappointed,
Beverley Sharpe